Catherine Dawson joins the Melcourt board as they relaunch the Sylvamix range of peat-free growing media (February 10)

Melcourt Technical Manager and former chair of the Growing Media Association Catherine Dawson has been appointed to the company's board as Technical Director. Catherine joined the company in 1992 and has been instrumental in product development and testing from that time on. "Catherine is a well respected figure in the propagation and nursery stock sectors. She has made a big contribution to our past success and will play a key role in future developments," says Andy Chalmers, Melcourt Sales and Marketing Director.

"This is an energetic and ethical company to work for and I am delighted to be joining the board," says Catherine Dawson. "These are particularly exciting times, with our expansion into a range of equestrian products and the re-launch of the Sylvamix Range of peat-free growing media which used to be made for us by Vapogro before their demise."

In fact, Melcourt received so many calls from disappointed Sylvamix users that the decision to go back into production was almost made for them. The range comprises the standard formulae of Sylvamix Potting and Nursery Stock, the Soil Association approved Sylvamix Natural and the prescription range Sylvamix Special. The range offers growers the chance to grow peat free plants with complete confidence and excellent results.

Melcourt are widely recognized as the UK's leading supplier of mulches, soil ameliorants, peat-free planting composts, play, walk and equestrian surfaces. Its products are supplied from stock, loose, bulk or pre-packed, with prompt and reliable delivery nationwide.
